

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A multimode electrochemical sensing array formed on an integrated circuit chip is structured to provide electrochemical determination of acidity or alkalinity, as well as electrochemical and potentiometric measurement of oxidation/reduction potentials, conductivity measurements, electrostatic discharge protection, and ground provisioning.